A New Republic Parties

Photography by Mike Griffith

December 16 marked a new beginning for the New Orleans club scene: The opening of Republic, a music lounge/special-events facility reminiscent of 1940s- and '50s-style clubs. Here, the performers are a part of the overall atmosphere of the space, which has been created to accommodate and promote socializing between patrons. Located at 828 South Peters St., you can see Johnny Gros on Thursdays, Kevin O'Day and Walter "Wolfman" Washington on Fridays and Anais Patterson on Saturdays, as well as attend late-night parties and special events such as fashion shows and product launches. Don't miss it!
